Subject: Proposed changes to builders' licenses

By increasing the threshold of in licenced work will take away revenue from individuals and companies that have studied and completed a trade and developed a higher skill set and quality workmanship in the industry. How do you also protect the consumer with these changes. Try looking at the HOW criteria instead. This is crippling small building Buisness and at the same time decreasing the likelihood of being successful on lower valued tenders.

Where is the value and or reward in completing a trade or being eligible to obtain HOW. This is not how you protect licenced builders.

This is driving us out of the industry.
