Good Afternoon, here are some issue's that need to be addressed. 1. Sub Contractors who perform work for large builders & developers should provide a bond or court enforceable law on the quality of materials used & labour provided to do the complete work. This should stop undercutting of quotes in order to get the work, & the cutting back on materials to complete the work. 2. A warranty period should be provided to all buyers regardless if investor or owner/ occupier by developers, builders & companies who is involved in the project from start to finish. 3. Full ground & soil testing to be carried out before foundations are dug or concrete poured on site. 4. Stronger laws to protect owners & investors from meeting the cost's of any work that needs to be done to the building so it is safe & liveable to all residents. Thank you, Michael Jordan.
