To whom it may concern,

We here at Zest painting are utterly against the decision to remove painting and other trade licences as there are already too many inexperienced painters and other trades out there doing the wrong thing by people and damaging their properties and their livelihood.

Trades with no licence and their lack of experience and expertise can not be matched to those of us with so many years of experience.

This decision will ruin the industry and will be detrimental to both licenced experienced painters /trades and customers.

Please reconsider your decision.

Kind regards,

Bez Sabri
