I live on the northern beaches and have been astounded at the lack of progress on the roadworks around the new northern beaches hospital. At a guess I don't think the government is holding the builder to account for these delays - but how do I know this for sure. Hundreds of thousands of road journeys are being delayed by this project but we as the public just have to put up with it. The public should have access to delivery and contract documentation and should be able to hold both the contractor and government to account if they are not delivering on time cost and quality
