
From: Darren Holmes Building
Sent: Sunday, 12 August 2018 11:57 AM
To: Policy
Subject: My Say

Dear Sir / Madame,

Any move to make it easier for Owner Builders is not only an insult to all qualified Builders and Tradesman , but a health risk to these unqualified, uneducated in building codes and practices, self-proclaimed builders. I may as well rip up my Builders Licence as its worth is diminished by legislation making office worms who have no concept of the Building industry !!! Also so many more unsuspecting consumers will soon be at risk of spending $20,000 with an unlicensed , untrained , untouchable handyman who thinks he can build !!!

Kind regards,

Darren Holmes